Stories of the Diné

Monday, March 12, 2018 | 6PM

CCC Fourth Street Innovation Center

Stories of the Diné have been passed down from one generation to the next - stories about leadership, conflict resolution, happiness, growth and development throughout the lifespan.

"These stories help us define who we are as unique individuals in order to live a fulfilled life," said Derik Yellowhair, CCC Student Life and Passages Coordinator.

Yellowhair will be sharing some of those Diné stories during the second installment of a new series of free educational talks, or ED Talks, at Coconino Community College.

The talks are part of an ongoing effort for CCC to reach out community members interested in continued learning.
