

Daniel Rivera

CCC Alum

Daniel Rivera went from being a high school drop-out to receiving the Barry Goldwater Scholarship, one of the most prestigious scholarships in the nation.

All because he tried out classes at Coconino Community College, where he thrived, to his surprise, in math and science. He graduated, moved on to NAU, and is currently in the mechanical engineering program.

"I'm pretty grateful that I tried to experience the real world without an education before I made the decision to come back and get one," Rivera said. "That made my experience here at CCC immensely more valuable."

Flagstaff resident Faith Aguirre received her EMS training at Coconino Community College. She now works at Guardian Medical Transport. She is currently completing a 12-month paramedicine program while working as an EMT for Guardian Medical Transport. The combination of practical on the job experience and classroom learning is a hallmark of the CCC2Work programs.

"CCC has really great instructors. They're experienced in the courses they teach and help you improve your skills so you are successful."

Faith Aguirre

CCC Alum

Melody Billy

CCC Alum

Page resident Melody Billy started her classes at Coconino Community College while getting treatment for cancer.

She graduated from CCC with a degree in PreHealth Careers and now works at Banner Page Hospital as a financial services representative. Her cancer is in remission, she has been accepted into the ASU Medical Studies program. Her goal is to become an oncologist – a physician who fights cancer.

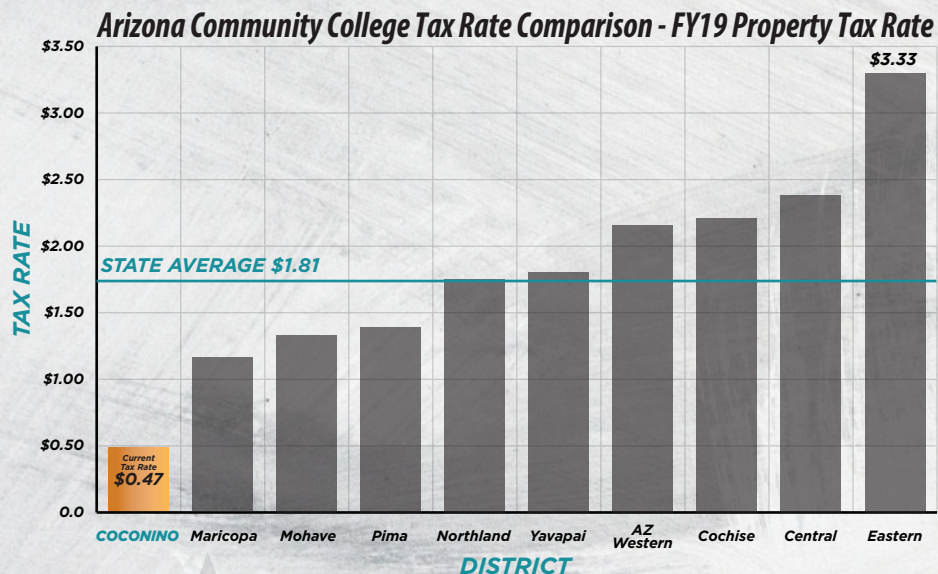

"CCC was my foundation to becoming a doctor, and started me out on the right foot. My classes at CCC really got my mind off being sick," she said. "It was my saving grace."

Coconino Community College

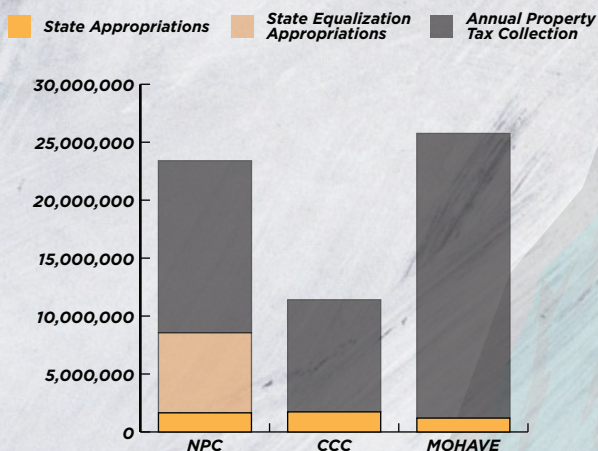

PROP417

Education That Works For You

Tax Revenue Comparison

Arizona's Three Smallest Community Colleges

What is PROP417?

- ▶ Continuation of the current secondary tax payment
- ▶ Pay what you are currently paying
- ▶ Estimated annual payment of $12.45 ($1.03 monthly) per $100,000 limited property value
- ▶ $2,226,000 annually for additional CCC programs
- ▶ Begins in 2019 (when current secondary tax ends)

What The Community Will Get

CCC2Work
Prepare students to be job ready

Veterans
Assist in transitioning to civilian jobs

Lifelong Learning
Develop programs throughout the County

Employers/Workers
Train or retrain workers to fit employer needs

Educational Services
Expand programs throughout the County

Additional Programs That Would Be Offered

Early Childhood Education - Health Care Certification
More Construction Trades - Welding
Automotive Certification - Business and Industry Training

For more information, visit coconino.edu or call (928) 527-1222